

50
YEARS

OpenLearn

Free Learning from
The Open University

<https://www.open.edu/openlearn/subject-information>

<https://www.open.edu/openlearn/free-courses/full-catalogue>

<https://www.open.edu/openlearn/free-courses/advantages-signing-on-free-course>

"Browse over 900 free courses on OpenLearn and sign up to our newsletter to hear about new free courses as they are released."

- Health, Sports & Psychology
- Education & Development
- Money & Business
- Languages
- History & The Arts
- Nature & Environment
- Science, Maths & Technology
- Society, Politics & Law

<https://www.open.edu/openlearn/about-openlearn/frequently-asked-questions-on-openlearn>

Succeed in the workplace
The Open University

Introduction to cyber security
The Open University

Working in diverse teams
The Open University

Succeed with maths PART 1
The Open University

Career resilience
The Open University

Leadership and followership
The Open University

Forensic psychology
The Open University

OpenLearn | The learning from The Open University

Statement of participation
Glen Darby
Has passed the free course including all mandatory test for

Succeed in the workplace
This free 24-hour course provides skills and knowledge to learners looking to change jobs, get started in the job market or returning to work.

Issue date: 4 June 2015

www.open.edu/openlearn

The Open University is a charitable limited liability company registered in England. The Open University is a registered provider of education and training for the purposes of the Education Act 2002. The Open University is a registered provider of education and training for the purposes of the Education Act 2002.

© 2015 The Open University